

DEMAND NEW HOTEL BE OPENED TO LET OIL INTERESTS MEET

By PAUL B. SMITH

The story of the humpbacked man who rented his hump to real estate chortle dealers in Wichita in the days of the mightiest town lot boom in northern history, was recalled last night in Ardmore. The crust of conservatism that has sheathed us over these past few years was asked, "fractured, burst" torn off and cast aside.

The excitement began with the shades drawn on the curb in front of the new building. The "Curtain" change was speedily organized—rather it just sprang into being. A note was written with pencils on pads in hand or pillowed against the faded walls of the building. There was no place to go but every man dressed up with a pencil and check book.

With the deepening shades of "war" President Davis of the Guaranty Bank took pity on the mob and let them inside. They flooded the bank lobby and took possession of the desks, put their feet on the president's desk and acted just like men who had something important to do. I knew just where to take hold of a handle.

And they did. Incidentally they did the management of the new hotel. "We want that hotel open," they chorused. "It is open—today," just like that was the end of it. "Put on three shifts and let it go on the ground floor," demanded a throng.

And there being the semblance of real life in this remark it looks as though something in that line may really be done. "We have been neglecting this hotel thing in the air," three years and we just naturally turned to the thing looking like a battery—I mean a place for us to sit big guns. And it's up to you to show speed and let the people in want to come. To Ardmore and out money for houses in on the ground floor and one or two floors over at where they can "mill" in comfort not in absolute luxury, and where they can sleep what little time they are not busy with other things. The in who made that speech talked just like his heart was in it. The crowd's his talk at 100 per cent, and suited for the hotel to be closed so can be opened.

But about the lunchbook. There is no lunchbook but there is every night of lunch. Everybody had at least one—and most of them acted on it. They spent real money and wrote checks. Whoever sold a lunch to buy with later.

"Reminds me of the boom days in a larder mining camp," said one, "I miss the smell of green pine lumber and sawdust. This here marble and tile and mahogany don't give off odors but it does lend class."

"That bunch will be coming out from here in a day or two," suggested another, "and we're just naturally going to be ready for them," which latter part of the remark carried an accent of wisdom born of experience.

"Leases are going mighty high, they ain't buy," said a pessimistic brother, "shucks, there is more territory out doors around this here new field than can be leased up in a year," said an optimist. "There is no limit to the land but the Arkansas and the And are city limits, and you've got to stick with me that that is considerable sure."

"Now this house of mine is right," pointing to a much pencilled diagram map, "where the old wagon road used to be. It's plain rich and not for sale—yet." "Which if it's the wagon yard I reckon it must be rich all right," replied an unassuming and unpolished bystander.

About eleven o'clock the crowd went home. A lot of business had been done. A lot of enthusiastic optimism, promises to evacuate in coming oil that it make Ardmore the next few years is generated. The crowd worked in difficulties but they got results—after all is the main thing. The next session will be held tonight. The assembly room of the Chamber Commerce. The optimism will then begin to crystallize into a definite program of activities looking to the making of the greatest city of southern Oklahoma.

ASTA RICAN REVOLUTION FORCES ARE DRIVEN BACK

Washington, June 6.—The invading forces have been completely driven out of Costa Rican territory and have taken refuge in Nicaragua, said a cablegram received today by Carlos Lara, Costa Rican representative. It was believed the government would concentrate against the forces and thus prevent the shedding of blood and the stirring up of hatred between the two republics.

"No American marines have been needed in any Costa Rican port," declared Mr. Lara in a statement referring to press dispatches saying United States marines had landed at Punta Arenas and Port Limon.

"There is no reason whatsoever for them to land unless it would be on a mission of courtesy and friendship."

TO FIGHT PACKERS.

London, June 6.—The New Zealand government has received advice from London indicating that Great Britain will ask New Zealand to help fight the American packers. A dispatch in the Daily Mail from Christ Church, New Zealand. The suggestion is that an agreement be made to sell New Zealand's meat products in London at a certain price. Then, adds the dispatch, if the trust reduces prices, Great Britain and New Zealand must beat it on its own. A conference of New Zealand producers, it is added, has been convened to discuss the subject.

PROGRAM FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT OF 111TH ENGINEERS

At a meeting of the general arrangements committee for the reception of the 111th engineers who are expected to be in Ardmore within the next two or three days, the following definite plans were agreed on and all citizens are expected to assist in making the home-coming a success worthy of the city and the boys in khaki.

The plan at the ice plant will announce the arrival of the train at the Santa Fe depot, and every whistle in the city will blow for five minutes.

No gun firing will be allowed under any circumstances, and any violating this rule will be instantly arrested. The boys have heard all the guns they want to for the rest of their lives.

Merchants are asked to lavishly decorate the front of their buildings using the national colors and also red and white, the colors of the company.

Main street from the depot to Central park will be kept clear of all autos during the hour the company is in the city. The merchants are asked to suspend business entirely during that hour. The troops will parade from the train to Central park, where there will be NO SPEECHES. The boys will be turned loose to greet their relatives. The public will not be allowed on the platform at the station.

Relatives of the boys will be given all privileges to see their boys and all others are asked to respect this order.

The ladies of the fifteen committees of the Red Cross will serve refreshments at the park and each soldier will be handed a lunch box as he gets on the train.

Every man, woman and child in Ardmore county are asked to be on hand for the occasion.

The committee desires to call the attention of the citizens of Ardmore to the fact that although these boys were in the thick of the last four months fighting in France, not a single casualty occurred and every one of them returns home safe and sound.

New Orleans Cotton Market

New Orleans, June 6.—Cotton opened steady, July, 29.45; October, 27.57; December, 27.45; January, 27.15; March, 26.39.

Poor cables and greatly improved weather in the belt were responsible for a selling wave on the opening of the cotton market today. Prices made a ready response and lost 56 to 70 points in the first half hour of trading.

Rebidding of shorts on profits of cotton checked the decline and brought about a partial recovery. In the trading up to noon prices came back to within 25 to 34 points of yesterday's close.

Heavy selling upon the market during the noon hour, apparently for short account and prices broke to new low levels. At 1 o'clock the net decline amounted to 57 to 59 points.

Cotton closed steady at a decline of 117 to 122 points.

	High	Low	Mid
July	29.45	28.95	29.20
October	27.57	27.05	27.31

NAVY MUST GO FORWARD DECLARES SECRETARY IN SPEECH BEFORE CLASS

Washington, June 6.—Secretary Daniels in an address at the graduating exercises at the United States naval academy today declared that the closing of hostilities may could "rest on its oars," but that "it must surpass its great war record by a greater record in peace."

The 414 members of the graduating class, the largest in the history of the academy were urged by the secretary to apply all their initiative and energy in the great task of developing the efficiency of the navy.

AMERICANS TELL RHINE
PRESIDENT HE IS TO IGNORE
ORDERS FROM RUIN CAPITAL

Cologne, Wednesday, June 4.—American authorities here have sent word to the Over President of the Rhine provinces to ignore orders from Berlin transferring him to another province. The Americans believing that this move was a political one and connected with Berlin's effort to counteract the movement for the establishment of a Rhine republic. It is declared in Weissenbaden on Sunday that Berlin had also ordered the removal of the over president of the Treves district and that the Americans had instructed this official to ignore his instructions from Berlin.

TRAIN PASSENGERS SEE
MEXICAN BANDITS HANGED TO TELEGRAPH POLES

Nogales, Ariz., June 6.—Passengers on the train arriving at the border last night from Mazatlan, said they saw six Mexican bandits hanging from several telegraph poles alongside the railroad track at intervals between San Blas and Navojoa, in the state of Sinaloa. The bandits were members of the garrison at Navojoa, under the command of General Francisco Flores. They had stolen eleven army rifles several days ago and deserted. Afterwards, they looted and robbed farms along the railroad. They were captured by a detachment under the command of Captain Juan Garcia.

LEGISLATURE MEMBERS BARRED FROM OFFICES OF STATE OIL INSPECTORS

Oklahoma City, June 6.—The reported plan of Governor Robertson to reward his friends in the legislature with appointments as oil and gas inspectors under the new inspection law was blocked yesterday when Attorney General Freeling, in an opinion to the commission, held that legislators are disqualified from appointment to the inspectorships.

The general provisions of the constitution barring any member of the legislature from receiving a commission or appointment to any post or position, which has been created, or the emolument of which were increased during the legislative session, it was held by the attorney general.

Approximately thirty members of the legislature, most of them being members of the house of representatives, were slated for appointments, according to Campbell Russell, corporation commissioner.

Simultaneously with this ruling by the attorney general, the commission announced the appointment of seventy-three inspectors, including twenty who have been holding oil inspectorships under the old law for more than a year.

Protest Ship Sale.

LARGE ATTENDANCE EXPECTED FOR D-C-D CONVENTION HERE

Letters from cities and towns along the line of the D-C-D highway indicate a splendid attendance, at the convention which opens next Tuesday morning at Convention hall. It is now a question of weather and road conditions. The roads boosters are ready to come.

Secretary Palmer wrote that everything is quite complete at the end of the line. The western delegation will come by automobile all the way along the line from Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and the Arkansas valley towns of Colorado. Texas Panhandle will be represented by probably the largest delegation that will attend.

All delegations west will fall in line and arrive at Hobart Sunday night, Monday will bring them on to Ardmore ready for the convention Tuesday morning.

Gainesville is getting up a delegation from that city and the towns along the line to Fort Worth. They will gather in Gainesville Monday and leave that city very early Tuesday morning, arriving in time for the opening session.

Towns and cities along the route from Oklahoma City to Ardmore are arranging for delegations. While they are not on the D-C-D, they are deeply interested in the success of the line as it is traveling to Colorado. They are also directly interested in the G-G-G convention, which will be held on Tuesday.

Madill expects to send a good delegation. Sulphur, Tishomingo and other points east will also be represented, according to present plans.

PRESIDENT OF A. P. TELLS CONFERENCE THE VALUE OF NEWS

Washington, June 6.—Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, told the pan-American conference today that the exchange of true, ungarbled and unbiased news between the North and South American continents now being brought about by the membership of South American newspapers in the organization would be "more effectual in cultivating and maintaining the relations of a friendly and affection that should exist between the two continents of the hemisphere than all the propaganda that could be fed out by all the publicity agents that could be put to work."

Mr. Noyes explained how the Associated Press, "probably the most notable cooperative effort now functioning" was in no sense a governmental agency is forbidden by its charter to make or distribute profits and has always refused to handle propaganda, believing that its function was properly limited to supplying a news service to its members without bias so far as that is humanly possible. This appealed to some of the most important South American newspapers and they were received into the organization not as customers or clients, but as full members of the cooperative organization.

"It is a matter of pride to the Associated Press said he, 'that this invitation to our fellowship was instantly accepted and that we now have among our members the most important journals in the countries to the south of the United States, for we have had members in Mexico and Cuba, for years.'

"The bases of our relationship with our new members are those of equality, of mutual respect, of full confidence. Our South American members know that the news reports sent them will be as true as news with no ulterior purpose and we have the same belief as to the news coming north."

"I am sure that it must be sure that the interests of the Associated Press in the specific commercial projects that this conference is discussing must be purely platonic. Any aid to general buying and selling that this fellowship in effort of the newspapers of North and South America brings will be only a by-product of a relation that had no such object in mind as an incentive to its creation."

"I may with propriety say, however, that the growth in commerce that you are planning for must be built on the same basis as those I have stated as the foundation stone of the relations of our new and old members—equality, mutual respect, full confidence."

Refuse German Tips

Versailles, June 6.—Because the servants employed at the Hotel des Reservoirs here, were the German peace

dence. While our organization will therefore be only a sympathetic on-looker in the progress you seek to accomplish the work we are doing is of immense importance to you.

"We are making peoples know each other, know each other's habits, know each other's likes and dislikes, virtues and foibles. It is only within the last few weeks that the people of this country have learned through the Associated Press that football is an international sport in South America. This may seem supremely unimportant but it is not. It is very important for it goes to the vitals of a mutual understanding and sympathy."

"On Wednesday a cable came from Brazil saying that a football team from Bethlehem, Pa., had accepted an invitation to visit Brazilian cities and that it was reported that the United States football association had under consideration an invitation to send a team to the next South American championship tournament. Believe me, when we play football together we are making progress."

"The beginning of the flow of our news from North to South and from South to North, carried with it, of course, a great strengthening of our bureau in South America and is now having a collateral effect in causing a more energetic collection of news from Spain and Portugal in news of which countries our new members are especially interested."

"I would have you know that the North American members of the Associated Press enthusiastically welcome to the ranks of the organization the new members from the south. We greatly prize the friendships that are growing up from this association, we are proud that these high types of journalists of South America are fellow members and we hope and believe that they too regard us as friends and comrades."

"I feel sure that I am speaking for our South American as well as North American members in saying that we wish you God speed in your work. We hope with you for an increasing stream of ships carrying cargo and passengers both north and south. For us we will see to it that a never ending stream of news of the world's happenings, its accomplishments and its failings shall flow between the two continents so that our peoples shall know each other better, feeling sure that as they know each other they will like each other more and more."

A pledge that no expense would be spared to create a cable service between the United States, Central and South America, which would be the equal of any in the world was made today by John L. Merrill, president of the all-American cables. Mr. Merrill declared that his company had dedicated to the services of the three Americans twenty thousand miles of cables and land lines and that extensions now under way or planned would bring the total to thirty thousand.

NAVY ASKS RETENTION OF PRESENT AIR STATIONS

Washington, June 6.—Retention of all navy air stations now in operation was recommended to the house naval committee Thursday by Captain Craven, director of naval aviation. He declared the stations were necessary to maintain the present efficiency of the service. Captain Craven also recommended an appropriation of $5,500,000 for three dirigibles, one of which would be purchased from Great Britain at a cost of $2,500,000. Major General Barnett, commandant of the marine corps, recommended maintenance of a force of 47,300 marines next year.

Under revised estimates submitted to the committee by Secretary Daniels, the personnel of the navy would be reduced to 200,000 by Jan. 1. The secretary said he had asked for authorization of a force of 250,000 until July 1, 1920.
